NORTH PLATTE, NEB., MARCH 28, 1916.

No. 21

RECEPTION TO NEVILLE NEXT MONDAY EVENING.

Citizens of North Platte, both men and women, and irrespective of political affiliation, will tender Keith Neville a reception at his home next Monday evening, and to this attestation of the regard in which Mr. Neville is held by this community everybody is invited. Monday evening has been selected because it is the only day which Mr. Neville will be at home, for every day from now until the primary there are calls for his presence in all parts of the state; in fact he can not fill one-tenth of the invitations which have been extended to him.

This reception is to give further evidence of loyalty on the part of North Platte people to Mr. Neville, western Nebraska's candidate for governor—and to let the people of the state know that the citizens of North Platte stand back of their candidate.

There will be music by the band and short addresses by a number of our people.

The retiring directors were Ira L. Bare, J. P. Larson, L. Walker and W. R. Maloney and they were re-elected, the latter for one year to fill a vacancy and the other three for three years.

The directors then held a meeting and re-elected T. C. Patterson president, V. VonGötz vice-president, Saml. Goczze secretary and E. E. Bullard treasurer. The secretary's salary was increased to $1,500 per year and the treasurer's salary to $200 per year.

Printed annual statements are in the hands of the secretary and can be obtained from him.

Published Just as Information.

Should the town go dry next Tuesday the city council and board of education will need exercise their resourcefulness to get money to fill out the current year, as the $6,000 license money was included in their yearly calculations as usual. Upon inquiry Mayor Evans stated that it would be time enough to meet the situation when it arose, but that the mind of Rutherford, ed., 80610, c. 17, $3,000 depended upon by the city might be raised by a graduated occupation tax, along the line employed for raising the publicity fund by the Chamber of Commerce, to be levied upon business and professional men, including telegraph, telephone and express companies.

RIGHT SHOPPING AND RIGHT DRESSING

THE way to stylish and economical dressing does not lie in long and tiresome tours of all the shops in town. By scattering their energies in this manner women generally end by buying on impulse and then tiring of the garment early in its life. And this haphazard method is costly in the long run, as all business is costly when it is carried on with a great number of unknown persons or firms.

The proper and efficient way to shop is to select one thoroughly reliable store, try it out; and, having found it honest and capable and styleworthy, bring your patronage there for as long as the firm and its salesfolks continue to show good judgment, good stock and honesty of purpose.

Prices, too, are "right" here.

SUNDAY WAS RALLY DAY FOR ANTI-SALOONISTS.

With the magnetic Rev. Lowry as the drawing card at the Keith and Attorney Dryden, of Kearney, the speaker at an overflow meeting at the Baptist church Sunday evening, the anti-saloons had a red-letter day and they are confident that many new recruits were enlisted under the banner of the "dry." Rev. Lowry gave his lecture "The Stump Puller," in which he summed up in a general way the evils of intemperance, to an audience greater than the seating capacity of the Keith, while at the Baptist church Mr. Dryden told of conditions in Kearney since it became dry. The latter quoted business men as saying that general business conditions were much better in 1915 under no-saloons than in 1914 when saloons flourished.

At the Keith theatre a fund of $200 was raised to meet the expenses of carrying on the campaign in North Platte.
